ALEXANDRIA IMPROVEMENTS.

The approaching completion of the new wall and the pavement and carriage road, 4 metres wide, that will afford Alexandrians so excellent an opportunity of enjoying the sea air on the new promenade, naturally draw attention to the question of the disposal of the refuse of the city.

It is the intention of the new law that the refuse of the city should be disposed of in a sanitary manner, and the plan for the new road that will be constructed, and the plan for the disposal of the refuse of the city, are already being prepared, and that very shortly the first portion will be ready for disposal.

We regret to have this all probability it will be offered for sale and not on building lease. Should this course be finally decided upon we feel sure that before very long it will be recognized that a great mistake has been made in the future and must be accepted at once.

This is so important a matter that passes may well be given before the irreversible step is taken. So valuable an area of building land ought never to pass out of the hands of its right owners, the citizens of Alexandria. Their interests are entrusted to the Municipality, a body supposed to represent them and elected by those qualified to vote for that very purpose. The fact that these interests are committed to a small delegation and that the Press is excluded from the deliberations of the body and select party, should not be lost sight of; such considerations do not tend to increase public confidence in our City Fathers. Apparently they themselves are somewhat uncertain as to whether they are right in selling the land, for we are assured that only just so much will at first be offered as will provide capital for useful improvements in the city. Why, with the borrowing powers they possess, should not the building sites be let on lease and money be borrowed on the security of the ground rents? If this course were adopted there would be no necessity for even a portion of the property to pass out of the hands of the community, and the increase of value that must accrue as building after building is erected and occupied (for a consequent profit to the earlier investor) will allow of an increased rental being obtained at the termination of the various leases.

We by no means urge the letting of the land on such terms as would result in the surrender of all buildings erected on it when the lease falls in, without compensation to the leaseholder. Such conditions are bad enough when enforced by private landowners, and probably the time is not far distant when in England the inferior tenure of the leaseholder will be abolished and the tenant no longer be left unable to claim compensation for the improvements made upon the property. A lease granted for, say, 50 years and renewable at the end of the term at a rental commensurate with the increased (or decreased) value of the property at the time at the expiration of the lease, should on such favorable terms secure a good ground rent even from investors who as speculators naturally hope for more advantageous terms than later comers would get in a few years' time. For many years their enterprise would be rewarded by the continually increasing value of their investment, while no injustice would be done to them by requiring an increased ground rent when, at the end of the term, the lease expired. We know full well the difficulty of arousing public opinion even on questions vitally concerning the well-being of the citizen. Whether it is the fact that the better part of the community, cosmopolitan as it is, is really incapable of taking the interest that Englishmen in general feel in the local matters connected with their place of residence, or whether those foreigners feel that they have only a passing interest in the city which will cease when they have made their fortune and are when they return to their own lands, certain it is that no resentment is expressed, even at so glaring an injustice as the expropriation of the Press from the deliberations of the governing body. Surely in a matter of the urgency of that which we have been discussing some strong hand should make its power felt, especially as it is understood that Lord Cromer is favorable to the adoption of the leasehold system, little as it is understood as yet in this country. What better opportunity could be given than the present for it to be successfully put into operation?

BANK OF EGYPT.

A RECORD YEAR'S WORKING.

DIVIDEND & BONUS OF 18 PER CENT.

The nineteenth ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Egypt Ltd., was held on the 14th inst. at the offices of the bank, 25, Old Broad Street, London, E.C., the Hon. S. Carr-Glyn (the Chairman) presiding. The Secretary (Mr. Arthur Nicholas) read the notice convening the meeting, the minutes of the last meeting and the report of the directors.

The Chairman: Gentlemen.—It becomes my duty, as Chairman during the past year, to make a few observations upon the report and balance-sheet that we have laid before you. I venture to think that all will regard this balance-sheet as very satisfactory—in fact, a record—and the Board are very glad to be able to sincerely congratulate the shareholders and the staff generally upon the very successful result of the past year's working of the bank. I may remind you that in the year 1904 our capital only amounted to £250,000 and our net profit for that year was £43,623. Last year—1905—our capital amounted to £500,000, and we were able to show a profit of £38,861. (Applause.) This enables us to recommend a distribution amounting practically to a dividend of 18 per cent.; but the Board wish me most emphatically to remind you that this dividend must not be taken as a precedent. But we hope it may occur again very often. We, however, thought it best to make an addition of 2 per cent. to the bonus, and not to the dividend. Referring briefly to the balance-sheet you will see that the capital paid up remains the same. It may be that in the immediate future we may have to increase our capital, and consequently the future developments which may occur in the Sudan. That may be possible, but for my own part—and perhaps I am rather conservative—if we can continue to pay dividends such as we have been able to, by paying during the last year, I shall be very glad to remain as we are. (Heard, hear.)

The Reserve Strengthened.

With regard to the reserve fund, you will see that we have made an addition to that of £10,000, and we intend—I do not say that we shall always be able to pay £20,000 to the reserve every year, but we expect to be able to gradually increase this reserve up to the same amount as our paid-up capital—viz., £500,000. (Applause.) Our bills payable this year are £37,000 less than they were in 1904. The current account shows an increase of £70,000, and we have written £4,589 of bank premises, which is the cost of the agency premises that we have lately built at a place called Beni-Suef. On the other side of the account you will see the cash amount to £20,451, or £10,980 more than last year. The bills receivable show an increase of £215,000. Turning to our securities, they are put down at £239,000, which is the price we paid for them, but when they were valued at the end of December, 1905, the value had increased to £205,770, so that they had appreciated by £18,000. (Applause.) We propose during the present year to add £10,000 or £20,000 to these securities, which are all gilt-edged, so as to bring the amount of our securities into line with our reserve, although these securities are not actually earmarked for that purpose. The last item on the assets side is current and other accounts which amount to £207,000. On the liabilities side, and I think you will see that this item, too, the item of bills payable being both lower are very satisfactory features in this report.

The Bank's Operations.

With regard to the operations of the bank during the past year, I do not think I need detain you very long. I am happy to say that everything has worked very smoothly and very steadily. We have opened new agencies during 1905, but we have opened none during the present year, as at a place called Beni-Suef, where we have a very well-established agency at Beni-Suef, and very soon this agency will be converted into a branch at Beni-Suef. And I have no doubt whether succeeds me in this chair next year of the year after will be able to tell you something about our developments in that quarter.

Cotton Statistics.

It is necessary to give you some cotton statistics. The present season's cotton crop—1905-6—is estimated at about 6 million carter, which will be about the same or a little more than last year. The price has considerably advanced during the year. On the 1st of February 1906, the quality "Half good fair" stood at 6 1/4, and the present price is 8 1/2. The bank's receipts of cotton maintain a steady increase. To the end of June, 1905, the receipts in Alexandria of 1904-5 were 651,000 carter, against 562,000 of the previous crop, an increase of 89,000 carter. The increase of cotton in this proportion, I should like now to read a few words from the report of our Liverpool correspondents, Messrs. J. Bramley Moore & Co. They state: "The demand for Egyptian cotton continues strong, and the present position of spinners points to it being well maintained. Important feature. There are 29 new mills, which are either completed or will be before the end of the year. The total production, 2,675,000 spindles, all for producing yarn made from Egyptian cotton. This means an increase of consumption of 1,000 to 1,500 bales of cotton per week. I have to express on the part of the Board our continued satisfaction with the labours of our staff out in Egypt during the past year. Mr. Luzzatto, our general manager, joined the bank, as you know, in 1884, and he became general manager in the year 1890, when the fortunes of the bank were at an extremely low ebb. Since then there has been a steady and continual progress, which I think is mainly attributable to Mr. Luzzatto's activity, care and knowledge of the business, and his wonderful power of dealing with natives. We should also like to express our hearty thanks to all the staff in Egypt for what they have done. There is one other matter I should like to mention. We received—I will not say complaints, but an intimation that the Egyptian cotton in Egypt required a little reorganising or rearranging, principally on account of the great increase of the cost of living there. As you are all aware, Egypt has now become the dumping ground of tourists of every nationality. They go there to spend money, and consequently the price of everything are very much increased; in fact, it is the reverse of what it used to be. In the old days the foreigner spoilt the Egyptians; but now the Egyptians spoil the foreigner. There most, therefore, be some increase in our charges in consequence of that, and I think no one will object to it. I have to say a good word for the work we have done in connection with the foreigner. I must also refer with pleasure to the good work done by the London staff under the superintendence of Mr. Nicholas. To show you that their work has been very good, I may mention that we passed through Mr. Nicholas's hands in the year 1905, £2,500,000 more than we did the year before, and the profits that were made here were over £30,000. There is one other little matter in connection with the staff that I should like to mention, which is that our good old friend Mr. Chahine, who was secretary for many years, and retired a few years ago, passed away last year at a good, ripe old age.

SODA WATER AND OTHER MINERAL WATERS.

It is commonly acknowledged that imported articles from the West coast of Europe are preferred to similar articles manufactured locally. In very many instances undoubtedly there is superiority, but in the case of mineral waters we are glad to say Egypt can hold its own. The prejudice in favour of imported mineral waters is gradually being trodden down, the local produce having been found quite equal to the imported article. To prove our statement on this point, I will give you one of the excellent mineral waters manufactured by Mr. N. Spatich, the well-known merchant and mineral water manufacturer of Cairo and Alexandria. His soda water, lemonade, ginger ale, etc., etc., are absolutely the finest grade of article obtainable in this line of business, and we thoroughly recommend them to our readers and the public generally for purity, freshness, and guaranteed wholesomeness.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE SUPPLY TRUE STRENGTH.

"Patient and uncomplaining" seems to be part of a woman's nature. But her existence should not mean a life of silent suffering and a continual struggle to conquer pain. The women of the world are to-day praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for having restored strength and happiness, and their advice is important to all suffering sisters. Miss Mary Slater, 5, Frank-street, Preston, is an illustration.

"I bore up as well as I could," she stated, "for I hate to complain; but I was so ill at times that I could hardly stand up. Occasionally might leave that matter in the hands of the Board.

The Chairman stated that such a proposal could not be brought forward without notice. The resolution was carried unanimously. Lord Rotherham presided at the re-election of the Hon. S. Carr-Glyn and Mr. Biddell as directors of the company, remarking that a good deal of the success of the administration of the bank was due to the constant, able and indefatigable attention of those gentlemen to its affairs.

Lord Grenfell, G.C.B., seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

Messrs. Pries, Waterhouse and Co., were re-appointed auditors, and on the motion of Mr. J. T. Harris, seconded by Mr. Paxton, a vote of thanks was given to the Chairman, directors, managers and staff generally for their valuable services during the past year. The proceedings then terminated.
